Formatting

Which template should I use?

Fade In provides various templates for screenplays, stage plays, teleplays, etc. Basic templates are included with the application. Additional templates are downloadable from www.fadeinpro.com.

If you have specific formatting/usage requirements such as for a radio play, multimedia presentation, or one of the uses noted above, you will likely find it best to start with one of the templates for that specific purpose. All Fade In templates or documents can be further customized to suit any specific needs.

Normally for screenplays, you will use the Screenplay template. The other templates are either legacy formats and no longer frequently used, or are for matching the format of another screenwriting program.
